BODY OF MRS. JESSIE GAVER TAKEN FROM GRAVE BY CORONER WYIARCH; CHEMIST MAKING POISON ANALYSIS

INDIAN NOW RELATES VARIED STORIES OF STRANGE RELATIONS

In Zanesville Jail, Confides to Advocate Representatives That Deceased Was His Mother's Cousin

GIRL IN CASE REFUSES TO TELL HER STORY

Many New Angles Given to Case Which Yesterday Resulted in Official Inquiry Being Taken by Coroner—Miss Lura Hilles, Member of Prominent Ohio Family, Knew Doctor in Newark—Seeking Girl's Relatives.

The body of Mrs. Jessie Fremont Gaver, which has been buried in Cedar Hill cemetery since Nov. 7, was exhumed at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon by direction of Coroner W. E. Wiyarch, who is investigating the circumstances previous and subsequent to the death of Mrs. Gaver, for the purpose of ascertaining what truth is concealed in the various conflicting statements made by Dr. J. H. Rheamont, and those associated with him.

Accompanied by an Advocate man Coroner Wiyarch went to the cemetery, where under the direction of Andrew J. Crilly, the superintendent, the grave had been opened.

Coroner Wiyarch and Dr. J. N. Wright, the latter having attended Mrs. Gaver during her illness, performed the operation of removing the stomach. In addition to the Coroner and Dr. Wright there were present Dr. D. M. Smith, Dr. S. Richards, Dr. J. T. Harbottle representing the city solicitor, Dr. Homer Davis, Mr. Basil Wiyarch and George D. Upson of the Advocate.

The removing of the viscera was completed at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon after which it was placed in a glass jar. The corpse was well preserved considering the length of time which it had been buried.

After the removal of the stomach the body was reburied and Coroner Wiyarch took an Ohio Electric car for Columbus, carrying with him the viscera which he turned over to Chemist Howard for examination.

The examination and tests to which the contents of the stomach will be subjected to are very exhaustive and will require at least two days and it is probable that it will be Monday before the results of the inquiry will be announced.

Zanesville, Ohio, Nov. 22.—Probate Judge H. C. Smith continued the hearing indefinitely in the case of Dr. J. H. Rheamont, charged with contributing to the delinquency of Grace Gaver.

Dr. Rheamont's bail was increased from $2,500 to $5,000 and the pseudo doctor was returned to jail where he will probably remain until after a thorough investigation of his conduct at Newark can be made.

Dr. Rheamont has closed up like a clam and refuses to talk. He denies himself to all newspaper men and will not even speak of his troubles to the jail officials.

Representatives of the Newark Advocate last evening visited Dr. J. H. Rheamont in the Muskingum county jail, securing for readers of their paper the suspected practitioner's testimony on mooted questions to the case. Rheamont was not at all averse to telling his side of the story, but has since decided that he does not want to tell any further conflicting tales. When he was returned to the jail after his hearing was postponed this morning, he declared that he "had nothing to say."

MORE THAN TWO THIRDS OF THE REQUIRED AMOUNT FOR Y. W. C. A. SUBSCRIBED

More than two-thirds of the amount required to establish a Young Women's Christian Association in Newark has been subscribed. In exact figures $8,170 of the required $12,000 has been pledged, $1,036 having been contributed since Thursday's report. This total does not include the net proceeds of Thursday night's recital, estimated at $200.

In Friday's report Mr. L. F. Carl's team took first honor. Mr. Charles C. Metz's force being a close second, Miss Norrell third. Mrs. Annie Hatch's workers lead in the total grand total for the week.

At Friday noon's meeting a telegram from Mr. Edward W. Crayton of Columbus, announcing a personal subscription of $100 was received with applause. A contribution of $71 from Advocate employees and a substantial subscription from school teachers were also greeted with enthusiasm.

After Thursday night's recital at the High school an appeal for solicitors was made without a generous response, but many who attended the entertainment later volunteered their services and are now at work. These volunteer workers added to the committees that have been in charge of the campaign for the past few days will assist materially in bringing the work to a successful conclusion. All doubt as to the ultimate success of the enterprise is over, but the fact remains that $8,170 must yet be raised and the time is very short in which to do it.

Subscriptions in any amount will be gladly accepted. Payment may be made over a period of three years if desired.

Many are simply waiting to be asked to contribute but the number (Continued on Page 15—Column 6) parlors were freely available for the interview of the "Doctor" and his youthful companion, and the sheriff took a genuine interest in the various statements made by the suspected practitioner. Deputy Sheriff "Thebe" Roll, one of Frick's capable co-workers, was also very courteous in his treatment of the visiting newspaper men.

"Doctor, some one to see you," called out the sheriff, as the interviewers were ushered into the jail corridor. And he said right here, that Sheriff Frick deserves no small compliment for the cleanliness and general appearance of his jail. The prisoners were in a remarkably clean condition, the walls and floors were unusually free from the dirt that often accumulates in such institutions, and even the prisoners seemed to appreciate the few extra courtesies extended them by the officers.

"Dr. Rheamont emerged from a crowd of card players at one end of the long corridor tables, and was told that some newspaper men wanted to ask a few questions concerning his life.

"Certainly," he replied. "Certainly. I shall be glad to have this matter all straightened out." The doctor had not heard of the intention of Coroner Wiyarch of this county to exhume the body of Mrs. Gaver. The sole purpose of the newspaper men was to secure statements concerning the relationship Rheamont bore to and with the dead woman.

"What relation was Mrs. Gaver to you?" asked one of the press men.

Now a Second Cousin.

"My mother and Mrs. Gaver were cousins," replied the doctor, giving a new version of this relationship, conflicting with the stories told to his attorney in Newark, the Prudential officials, the attending physician at the time of Mrs. Gaver's death, Supt. Crilly of Cedar Hill cemetery, and others.

The prisoner was then asked a few questions concerning his residence with Mrs. Gaver. "I never lived with her in Aurora," he declared. "She never kept house for me there, although I had known her all my life. When I went from Aurora to Coshocton, O., she moved there for treatment. She had been in ill health and came to Coshocton where she could secure my treatment; and also help in taking care of my house."

The doctor declares that Mrs. Gaver was taken seriously ill while in Coshocton and decided to return to Aurora. While she was in the Illinois city, his removal of the medicine business to Newark was effected.

Rheamont claimed last night that he was a Canadian Indian, a member of the Iroquois tribe, and was born in the Wampole Island district of Ontario. Those who have visited among the Canadian Indians declare that Rheamont possesses many of the characteristics of the tribes, but that he also resembles in some ways a person of negro taint. Rheamont was asked whether there was any truth in the statement that he was a Carlisle graduate. He hesitated for a few minutes before replying. "Well, no. That is, I didn't graduate," he finally stated. "I just went to school there." He refused to make any further comment on this portion of his life.

Is a Mason.

Rheamont leaned up against the bars of the corridor while talking to the newspaper men and occasionally fingered a Masonic emblem. Sheriff (Continued on Page 15—Column 2)

VICTORIOUS BULGARS MAY MODIFY THEIR DEMANDS UPON TURKISH GOVERNMENT

London, Nov. 22.—"Come and take them," was the reply of the Turks to the allied Balkan nations for the evacuation of the line of fortifications at Tchatalja in front of Constantinople. It is not believed in diplomatic circles to mean the end of the negotiations for an armistice even though fighting has been resumed.

From Sofia comes word today that the victorious invaders are likely to modify their conditions. The European powers at the same time are exerting themselves to induce the nations composing the Balkan League to bring their terms more into line with the facts of the situation and to arrange a treaty which will give them all they have conquered but will leave out that which has not been conquered.

Compared with its earlier disastrous experiences, the Turkish army evidently now considers itself in a favorable position. Turkey would perhaps agree to enter into negotiations on the basis of a surrender of all but a reasonable strip of territory at the back of Constantinople, the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

GIRL'S FEAR RESULTS IN RIVER DEATH

Providence, R. I., Nov. 22.—In deepwater not far from shore the body of Miss Norma Garvin, 36, a daughter of former governor, L. F. Garvin, was found in New River today.

Miss Garvin disappeared Wednesday evening. She had complained of trouble in her head and expressed a fear that she would meet death in the water. She left a note at home which said, "I can't get the water off my mind," and this led to the dragging of the river.

J. M. MAYLONE IS TAKEN TO SANITARIUM

J. M. Maylone, cashier of the Commercial National Bank at Coshocton, has been sent to a private sanitarium for treatment. Last winter, Mr. Maylone suffered a stroke of paralysis. He recovered from this stroke, but a few months later he was again seized with a similar attack. This left him in such condition that it was believed that treatment in a sanitarium would benefit him. Mr. Maylone was formerly a Newark man and was for several years secretary of the Board of Trade here.

BABE PLAYED ON FLOOR WITH DYNAMITE STICK

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.—Ortie E. MacManigal's story of finding his little girl in the kitchen of his Chicago home playing with eighty one-pound sticks of dynamite which he had left on a radiator to thaw, was told by him at the dynamite conspiracy trial today. At James B. McNamara's suggestion, he put the dynamite on a radiator and went to look over the proposed job in South Chicago. When he returned he said his little daughter was on the floor with the dynamite, and James B. the Los Angeles Times dynamiter, was testing a battery on the doorbell.

BANTZ ASKED FOR RESIGNATION; NOT HARMONIOUS

Washington, Nov. 22.—Secretary McVeigh today asked for the resignation of Gideon C. Bantz, assistant treasurer of the United States because he is said not to be in sympathy with the administrative policy of the secretary of the treasury. He will be succeeded by Christian S. Pierce, chief of the division of banks, loans and postal savings.

SINGER CHANGES MIND ABOUT AMERICAN MEN BEING ONLY SORT WORTH HAVING

May De Sousa, the prima donna, who before her marriage two years ago was wont to assert that American men were the only sort worth having, has had a change of heart, and is now suing her husband, E. A. Baines, of Rochester, N. Y., for divorce. She commenced the action through her attorneys in London, although she is now traveling in South America. The reason for the divorce action as given is that Baines has aversion to doing anything save pose as a gentleman of leisure.

MANY MEMBERS OF CONGRESS OPPOSED TO APPOINTMENT OF BRYAN IN WILSON CABINET

Washington, Nov. 22.—Gossip and speculation concerning the cabinet of President-elect Wilson just now is centering around Colonel W. J. Bryan and the possibility of his becoming secretary of state. The rumor persists that Mr. Bryan expects to be offered the state portfolio, and will give the matter his serious consideration before declining it, if he does decline it.

Opinion among politicians is divided as to whether he would accept, and each side offers plausible reasons in support of its contention. The Colonel himself declined to discuss the subject when he was here a few days ago and this is one of the incidents which has resulted in the reiteration of the report that he is not unwilling to enter the cabinet of the next president.

Another reason given in support of the rumor is that as the premier of the Wilson administration, he would be in a more strategic position with respect to legislation than if he were on the outside looking on instead of participating in the efforts of the administration to secure the passage of new laws.

The most influential leaders of the house of representatives would rejoice to ignore Colonel Bryan in the matter of legislation, and the Colonel understands their antagonistic spirit.

Speaker Champ Clark for example, would find no keener delight than in embarrassing or humiliating the Commoner in retaliation for his opposition to the latter's nomination at Baltimore last summer. Mr. Clark still feels very bitterly toward Mr. Bryan, and many of his friends here believe he would not speak to the Colonel if he saw him.

Representative Oscar Underwood, of Alabama floor leader of the House, likewise is imbued with a strong antipathy to the Colonel, primarily because the latter accused him last winter of disregarding Democratic doctrine in the preparation of the tariff bill and of favoring corporations instead of the masses.

It doubtless will be remembered that the House, by a tremendous majority, administered a public rebuke to Mr. Bryan by going against Mr. Underwood a vote of confidence.

Therefore these two men, the most powerful in legislative matters in the House, would take pleasure in ignoring his advice, but if the Colonel should happen to be in the cabinet he might be able to make a stronger impression upon legislation if he had the backing of President Wilson.

dom of Mr. Bryan's sitting at the head of the President's council table inasmuch as he is emphatically on record against the re-nomination of Mr. Wilson in 1916, the theory being that the Colonel himself aspires to be Mr. Wilson's successor.

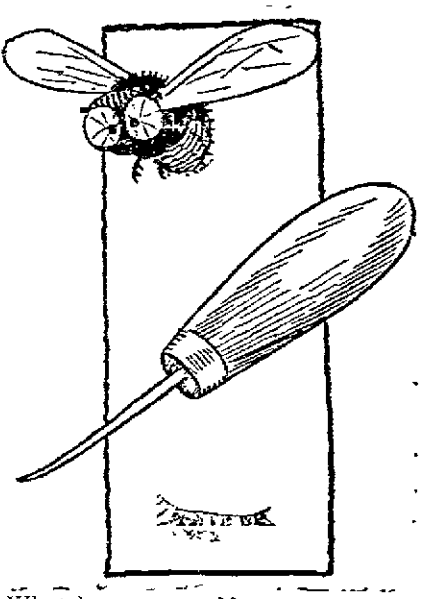

As illustrating the unwisdom of having Mr. Bryan, with his positive views on this subject, in the cabinet, they point to the experience which President Benjamin Harrison had with James G. Blaine, who, as his Secretary of state, became an aspirant to the presidential nomination in 1892 and created an ugly situation for that administration. They call attention also to the trouble which followed for the Garfield-Arthur administration eight years before as the result of Mr. Blaine's being in that Cabinet and having presidential aspirations.

Quite naturally no one seems to question the mental qualifications of Mr. Bryan for the premiership of the new administration, it being generally admitted by foes as well as friends that he would do well at the job unless he produced friction in the Cabinet by reason of his purposeful ways and his lack of accord with Mr. Wilson on the question of a second term.

CARMIE THOMPSON WILL RESIGN WITH CHIEF, MARCH 4

Washington, Nov. 22.—Carmie Thompson was sworn in today as treasurer of the United States, succeeding Mr. Lee McClure. Mr. Thompson said he would retire from political life with President Taft, March 4.

SELVAGGIO EXECUTED FOR CRIME

Italian Electrocuted This Morning at the Ohio Penitentiary

MURDERED 3 SICILIANS

Seven Days Ago a Fellow Countryman Paid Penalty for Assisting in the Crime.

Columbus, Nov. 22.—Silently clutching a crucifix to his lips, Dominic Selvaggio, aged 35, an Italian, walked steadily into the death chamber at the penitentiary a few minutes after last midnight. Five minutes later he had died in the electric chair and paid the penalty for murdering Anton Viscario, Anton and Jim Anberlinio, three Sicilians, September 15, 1911, on Kelleys Island, Erie county.

Although Selvaggio had been nervous since the electrocution of his companion in crime, Rocco Latecchio, a week ago, he did not falter when he went to his death last night. The initial charge of electricity was 1750 volts. The voltage was reduced to 500, then increased again to 1750. Fifty seconds after the current first was turned on, Penitentiary Physician Clark pronounced the man dead.

Selvaggio made no reply when given an opportunity to speak. He merely stared at the crucifix and prepared for the end. The electrocution was characterized by no incidents unusual to such affairs.

Somewhere in Italy Selvaggio is survived by his widow and three children, who have made themselves paupers in their effort to save his life. Their poverty-stricken condition will not allow them to fulfill the last request of Selvaggio, that his body be shipped to his native land for burial. The wife of the condemned man sold her home that she might use the proceeds in making legal fight for her mate's life.

Nick Selvaggio, a brother, was at the penitentiary yesterday. Without any outward appearance of grief the brothers bade each other goodbye. Last night Selvaggio ate a hearty supper. At his own request, he feasted on chicken, fried oysters, potatoes, apple pie, cake, candy and several kinds of fruit.

Sheriff Herman Reuter of Erie county, through whose vigilance and efforts both murderers were sent to the chair, was present at both executions. It was mainly through a statement made by Selvaggio to his companion, Latecchio, that both were convicted. Selvaggio thought they were alone in jail at Sandusky, but their conversation was overheard.

Their victims were three Italian co-workers, and for a time the story offered by Selvaggio, that the men had voluntarily left Sandusky, was accepted and believed. Soon afterward the murderers also left. The bodies of the victims, thrown into Lake Erie, were washed ashore, and Sheriff Reuter began his hunt for the criminals. After a search which took him over the Central states, he captured them at Pittsburgh.

With the death of Selvaggio only one condemned man occupies the annex. He is Milton Smith, a colored, who is sentenced to die in January for killing a Gallia county farmer. Following conviction, Selvaggio was granted two reprieves by Governor Harmon.

BELIEVE DEATH UNREASONABLE; POLICE AT WORK

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 22.—A man registered as James Pepper of Columbus, O., was found dead of asphyxiation in a room in the Senate hotel, in which the gas had been turned on today. Two others have died in the same manner in the same hotel in the past few weeks. The police are investigating.

WILSON WAS "RILED" BY PHOTO TAKER

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 22.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson today had a lively dispute with an American photographer, which almost led to the exchange of blows.

The photographer took a snap shot of Mr. Wilson in spite of his prohibition. Mr. Wilson thereupon angrily exclaimed: "You are no gentleman. If you want a good thrashing keep that up. I can take care of myself in these things. I came here especially to avoid photographers."

REPORT OF THE RECENT CANVAS FOR LIBRARY

The Newark Public Library Association held a called meeting Thursday afternoon to hear the report of the recent canvas which was made to procure funds to meet the financial crisis of the library.

Mr. Charles W. Montgomery, president of the Board of Trustees of the Library, gave a short talk, stating very definitely how the appropriation from public funds is made and explaining under what difficulties the trustees have worked the past two years to make ends meet with the exceedingly small appropriation the city has seen fit to make.

Mrs. Charles Metz also spoke in behalf of the efforts made by the trustees to keep the library in existence.

Mrs. Eugene F. Ball, treasurer of the Association, made the following report of funds received:

Board of Trade	$100.00
Acme Lodge, F. and A. M.	25.00
Knights of Pythias	10.00
Modern Woodmen	10.00
Nancy Boyer Performance	25.00
Loyal Order of Moose	10.00
Davies Dry Goods store	42.70
The Blair Mfg. Co.	30.00
Fleur Des Les Club	2.00
Residents of First ward, under leadership of Mrs. F. Agnew	$1.32
Second ward, under Miss Helen Tucker	152.96
Third ward, under Mrs. Edward Kibler	36.40
Fourth ward, under Mrs. Wm. O'Bannon	42.21
Fifth ward, under Mrs. A. S. Mitchell	65.25
Sixth ward, under Mrs. Fred C. Evans	219.24
Public Square, under Mrs. Ernest Johnson	105.52

Added to these the subscriptions secured by Mr. Charles Spencer, president of the Board of Trade, and the voluntary contributions, given to the Librarian, Mrs. Rankin, brought the total to $1,257.82.

This fund added to the amount given by the city will be used for the maintenance of the library until 1914, when it is hoped the library may be put upon a firmer basis.

The ladies of the association who undertook this campaign feel they have been met more than half way by the good citizens of Newark and take this medium of expressing their gratitude alike to the large and small contributors to the Board of Trade, to Mr. Spencer for voluntary assistance, to Mr. F. L. Davies, and to the Auditorium theatre management and various organizations all of whom were prompt in their response to the worthy cause.

He was united in marriage with Mary J. Ridenbaugh Nov. 25, 1882, to which union were born four children, three girls and one boy—Mina, Irma, Arla and Earl. Mr. Martin has been failing for several years with heart trouble, but for over a year he has been a constant sufferer, and although at times he would be in intense misery, yet he bore his suffering with the greatest patience, having united with the Mt. Pleasant Christian church in his early boyhood days. He learned that great lesson of putting his trust in Jesus and in his sickness he certainly made Him his friend and partner. He leaves the assurance that he was ready to meet his Master. By his daily and patient suffering, he was a true and devoted husband, a loving and faithful father and a good citizen and neighbor, one that will be greatly missed by all who knew him. A father, mother, brother and an infant daughter, little Irma, have preceded him to his heavenly home. He leaves to mourn his departure a wife and children, Mrs. Mira Norris, Arla and Earl of the home, three brothers and one sister.

WOULD HAVE PAID CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO TO HAVE GIVEN CONTRACT TO JEWETT CAR CO.

Early last December the Jewett Car Works of this city were the lowest bidders on a contract to furnish the city of San Francisco 43 cars for street railway purposes. Among the numerous bidders was a San Francisco concern, the Holman company. When a meeting of the supervisors of the city was called to award the contract the matter was held up, certain influences being brought to bear, the Advocate at the time carrying the story which was wired by its special correspondent in San Francisco; at this meeting the bids were turned down and a re-advertising ordered. The Holman company secured the contract when the bids were opened a second time, having any or little opposition after the supervisors action. The Jewett company did not submit the second bid.

The sequel to the letting of the contract is found in the following special from San Francisco:

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 22.—Manager J. W. Reiss of the W. L. Holman company promised that ten cars for the city railroad would be ready without fail November 16, but he admitted in Mayor Rolph's office yesterday afternoon that he was two weeks behind time. He said, however, that four of the first ten cars were being lettered and varnished and the other six were being painted, and he promised to have them finished by December 1st. The assembled city officials commented on Reiss' facility for making promises.

Supervisor Murphy suggested that a record be kept of Reiss' statements, as it might become necessary for the

HUNDRED YEAR CLUBS

Believe Life May Be Prolonged.

Men who are devoting their lives to the study of longevity believe that days to come a man of ninety will be in his prime, and old age will begin long past a hundred years.

Scientists have proved that the simple life, temperate habits, exercise and an active mind are essential to a long and happy life.

When the blood gets thin and sluggish and creeps lazily through the veins, and the arteries begin to harden, there is nothing that will enrich the blood, improve the circulation and restore strength to every back-sliding organ in the body so quickly as our delicious cod liver and iron tonic. Vinol. Here is proof.

Mrs. Michael Bloom of Lewiston, Pa., at 85 years of age was so weak she had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair—she writes that after taking a few bottles of Vinol she could take long walks and do her housework. That shows how Vinol strengthens old people.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN YOUNG.
Mrs. John Young died Thursday noon at her home near Highwater, after a sickness of some time. She is survived by her husband and eight children, six girls and two boys. The funeral services will be held at the Lutheran church at Vanatta, Saturday at 1:30 o'clock, standard time, burial in Wilson cemetery.

MRS. JOHN L. MCINTURE.
Mrs. Rebecca McInture, wife of John L. McInture, died suddenly on Thursday afternoon at the family home, 48 Columbia street. Death was due to heart trouble, probably induced by over-exertion. She was seized with the attack about 12:30 o'clock. Dr. J. N. Wright was called, but she was past human aid and died two hours later.

Mrs. McInture was a native of Ohio. She was born Oct. 1, 1857, and was therefore 55 years old. For many years the family resided on a farm southeast of the city but came to Newark several years ago. She is survived by her husband and two city to sue the Holman company's surety.

"These promises have been coming one after the other for months," Murphy remarked. "If this contractor misleads us by professing to be able to do the work when he is not able to do so, he ought to be made to pay."

Murphy advised Municipal Railway Superintendent Cashin to prepare data as to how much in fares the city would lose by not having the cars at the time fixed in the contract.

The contract provides that forty-three cars be delivered 180 days after the date of signing the contract, June 11th last. This period expires December 8th next. It is claimed that the 180 days did not begin to run until the auditor certified to the contract, six days after it was signed, which would make the last day for delivery December 14th.

Mayor Rolph said that an agreement should be made when the first ten cars were accepted by the city that this acceptance did not affect the city's right to recover damages on account of the failure to deliver the others at the contract time.

Assistant City Engineer Ransom believed that it would take the Holman company until March 1st next to complete the second ten cars, but Reiss said they would be ready at the middle of February.

Ransom remarked that if the Holman company was anxious for speed it could have ten or twenty of the cars built in the shops of the Union Iron Works or of the Oakland Traction company.

THE FIRST GRAY HAIR SIGN OF AGE

Easy Way to Preserve Natural Color of the Hair and Make It Grow.

A harmless remedy, made from common garden sage, quickly restores gray hair to natural color. The care of the hair, to prevent it from losing its color and lustre, is just as important as to care for teeth to keep them from discoloring. Why spend money for cosmetics and creams to improve the complexion, and yet neglect your hair, when gray hair is even more conspicuous and suggestive of age than wrinkles or a poor complexion? Of the two, it is easier to preserve the natural beauty of the hair than it is to have a good complexion.

All that is necessary is the occasional use of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of common garden Sage and Sulphur, combined with other valuable remedies for dry, harsh, faded hair, dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. After a few applications of this simple, harmless remedy, your hair will be gradually restored to its natural color, in a short time the dandruff will be removed, and your hair will no longer come out but will start to grow as Nature intended it should.

Don't neglect your hair, for it goes further than anything else to make or mar your good looks. You can buy this remedy at any drug store for fifty cents a bottle, and your druggist will give you money back if you are not satisfied after using. You will never regret it when you realize the difference it will make in your appearance.

STATE BEGINS PLEA IN THE FARLEY CASE

Columbus, O., Nov. 22.—Prosecuting Attorney Turner today announced that the arguments in the first degree murder trial of Miss Cecelia Farley, stenographer, will not be completed today. Court probably will be held tomorrow, Saturday generally being a holiday, and the case will go to the jury some time tomorrow.

Mr. Turner said the court would probably consent to a session tomorrow so that the court may begin on the bribery cases Monday.

In beginning the state's plea to the jury today Assistant Prosecutor J. S. Price declared impossible the manner in which the defense claims that Alvin E. Zollinger was accidentally shot. "The best evidence that he was not accidentally shot was that the wound was in the back of his head, that he fell forward on his face, and that when he was first found a raincoat was over his left arm, while his right hand was grasping an umbrella. Mr. England, park employee, who was first on the scene after the shooting, declared that he searched for a revolver but that none could be found. Later, he testified that after he had been there a few minutes and after Quigley had arrived, he found the revolver on the ground near where the body was lying."

Assistant Prosecutor Price declared that Zollinger could not have been shot in the manner demonstrated on the stand by Miss Farley. He declared that her story was "one of the most ridiculous concoctions he had ever heard."

He laid much stress on the fact that the gun with which the shooting was done belonged to the defendant, that she had purchased cartridges for it just previous to the shooting and that Miss Farley also dominated Zollinger and not Zollinger Miss Farley. He asked the jury to remember that Miss Farley had told the police that she had done the shooting before Zollinger had died in the hospital and when she knew there was a chance that she might be confronted by him.

After Zollinger's death, Mr. Price declared, that the story was changed.

Just before the noon recess Attorney James A. Allen for the defense began his plea. He declared that Zollinger had met accidental death while attempting to commit murder and then suicide, "a fitful ending for such a life."

He claimed that the state didn't prove during the trial that Miss Farley had done the shooting.

"The life that Zollinger led tended to a breaking down of the mind to suicide," he declared. Attorney Allen declared that the employment of the woman detective by Prosecutor Turner was a "constitution of the courts and machinery of Franklin county," and charged that Miss Farley's confession at police headquarters should be disregarded because of her state of mind at that time.

LANCASTER CANCELS; SATURDAY GAME TO BE LAST OF SEASON

Newark High school will close the 1912 football season Saturday with the game against Columbus South High and this promises to be the best game seen in Newark for several years. Both teams are in line for the honor of being champions of Central Ohio and both seek to defend the title. Interest is added to the contest because of the fact that Newark has defeated each of the Columbus schools and South will endeavor to show up the other Columbus teams.

The original schedule called for a game with Lancaster High on Thanksgiving day. This game was cancelled by Lancaster through no fault of the local management. The manager announces that those who have purchased season tickets may redeem the ticket for the Thanksgiving date, at the gate Saturday or this ticket will be accepted at the first basketball game of the season.

The Newark team has been strengthened since the last game by having Ashley at full back and Johns at center. With the last big game looming up before them, the members of the Newark team appeal to local people to lend their support which is so badly needed just now.

The crowds this season have been larger than usual but have not yet reached the standard which should be set by a city the size of Newark. The present team has placed Newark on the map in the football world and the players expect to put forth their best efforts to come out of the Saturday season tickets may redeem the game victorious.

COURT NEWS

Suit for Divorce.
That his wife, Dora Lees, abandoned him and their four minor children about ten months ago and since that time has been living with another man, is the allegation made by Joseph M. Lees in the divorce petition which he filed in probate court late Thursday afternoon. The petition recited that Mr. and Mrs. Lees were married September 17, 1887, and that eight children were born to them, Blanche M. Owens, Anna F. Lees, Gladys C. Redman, Charles O. Lees, Harry V. Lees, Lawrence B. Lees, Sanford F. Lees and Mary Lees. The four boys and Mary live at the home of the plaintiff.

Gross neglect of duty, failure to attend properly to household duties, together with desertion are the charges made by the plaintiff in the petition in which he prays that he be divorced from Mrs. Lees and that he be granted the custody of the four minor children.

Siberian Land Threatened.
Extensive tracts of land in Siberia are threatened by the encroachment of the great Gobi desert, and a plan has now been drawn up—a series of forest ramparts to hold back the salt and drift. The only effective defense, according to the report of agronomists sent to survey the region is in tree belts at least two miles broad. It is proposed to plant one of these from Samara to the Caspian sea, while others are recommended extending in intervals of about 40 miles right up to the Chinese frontier.

THE GREAT COUGH CURE

THAT ABODE OF THE PAST

"Yes, sub—here we are at that old time place!" And our dark driver drew up his little victoria gently, writes John Galsworthy in Scribner's. Through the open doorway, into a dim cavern of ruined house, we passed. The mildew and dirt, the dark, denuded dankness of that old hostel, rotting down with damp and time!

And our guide, the tall, thin, gray haired dame, who came forward with such native ease, and moved before us, touching this fungused wall, that rusting stairway and telling, as it were, no one, in her soft, slow speech, things that any one could see—that a strange and fitting figure.

Before the smell of the deserted, oozing rooms, before that old creature leading us on and on, negligent of all our questions and talking to the air, as though we were not, we felt such discomfort that we soon made to go out again into such freshness as there was on that day of dismal heat. Then realizing, it seemed, that she was losing us, our guide turned; for the first time looking in our faces, she smiled, and said in her sweet, weak voice, like the sound from the strings of a spinner long unplayed on: "Don't you want to see the dome room, an' all the other rooms right here, of this old place?"

Again those words! We had not the hearts to disappoint her. And as we followed on and on, along the moldering corridors and rooms where the black peeling papers hung like stalactites, the dominance of our senses gradually dropped from us, and with our souls we saw its soul—the soul of this old time place; this mustering house of the old south, bereft of all but ghosts, and the gray pigeons niched in the rotting gallery round a narrow courtyard open to the sky.

"This is the dome room, sub and lady; right over the slave market it is. Here they did the business of the state—sure; see their face up there in the roof—Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson, Davis, Lee—there they are! All gone—now! Yes, sub!"

KEPT WARM BY ELECTRICITY

Ingenuous Device Employed for Babies' Crib in Presbyterian Hospital in New York.

In the Presbyterian hospital, New York, there is an interesting instance of the application of electricity in the nursery for the benefit of the incubator babies. Here, says the Edison Monthly the problem is to provide plenty of fresh air and at the same time sufficient warmth for the babies, and this has been solved by a simple but effective form of crib warmer.

The sides of the bassinet in which the baby lies are covered with asbestos boards and beneath is an electric heater or foot warmer, with cable couplings and switch which allows the current to be regulated. In a warm air chamber between the bassinet and the foot-warmer is a partition, so constructed with reference to the baby's position in the crib that the heat is reflected to the lower end of the bassinet. The child's feet are thus kept warm, while a lower temperature is maintained at the head.

Beauty and Utility.

For the seventeenth time in three years the microscopic South American state has undergone a change of administration, and the new potentate, President Casper, the three hundred and second, had summoned an artist, and was ordering new designs for all the official uniforms.

"I want something striking," he declared—"something showy, even. My people are impressed by such things. I have here some sketches I made myself. Look them over, and be guided by these ideas as far as possible."

The artist examined them carefully. They were gorgeous affairs. Green coats tied with crimson vests in brilliancy, orange-colored trousers with scarfs of Cambridge blue. All the colors of the rainbow were there. "Ah!" he said, turning the pages. "This is evidently for the navy, this for the army, this for—this—what is this, for, with the long plume on the three-cornered hat, the bright yellow dress, trimmed with purple and—"

"That," explained the president, bravely, "is for the secret police!"

When Portugal Was Great.

The announcement that Portugal is to be linked up by "wireless" with "all the Portuguese colonies" is a reminder of the vanished greatness of what was once the leading colonizing empire in the world. From Lisbon in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries went out marines through the unknown and uncharted oceans to Africa, India and the New World to the west, and planted the flag of Portugal in every corner of the globe. But in Africa alone has Portugal maintained its hold of colonies of any magnitude. In India are little bits of Portuguese territory, Nova Goa, southeast of Bombay, being the capital of all Portuguese colonies east of Cape of Good Hope; while as far east as China, the island of Macao, in the Canton river, first colonized nearly 400 years ago, still owns the sovereignty of the government at Lisbon.

That Money Case.

"I have three passengers on my car who refuse to pay fare or give transfers," explained the Washington conductor to the solemn-faced man with the black bag of documents under his arm. "One of them calls the other two 'Mr. Pence' and 'Mr. Cash,' and they refer to him as 'Mr. Bond.' Now, since this Money case came up, I don't know what to do. What would you advise?"

"Sir," answered the gentlemen with the solemn face and the black bag of documents, "I should advise that you consult a lawyer. I am a musician."

Meeting the Inevitable.

Having a stiff neck, I am not able to salute the inevitable when I meet it.

"How is this?" cries the inevitable. "Why do you not bow to me?"

"Pardon me," I answer, thinking to dissemble. "I did not know you."

"Not know me?" is the reply. "Why I am the inevitable advice as to how to cure that stiff neck."

Then I get it in the neck.

Insures Peace.
"Do you think this new committee of 36 will be able to keep peace between capital and labor?" asked the First Citizen.

"Sure," replied the Second Citizen. "Do you suppose any body of strikers can hold out until 36 speeches have been made on the question their strike brings up?"

Made Him Run.
"I thought you had such a good position at the cannery," said the friend whose aid had been requested.

"So I had," answered the purveyor of hardluck stories, "but they got a new superintendent and he canned me."

And Longfellow Wept. Hiawatha and his prospective father-in-law were sitting before the latter's tepee.

"I was looking for flints and arrowheads over on the ridge today," remarked the young brave, "and found several quartz."

Just for Effect.
The Bickers are thinking of buying a limousine.

"Is that so?"
"Yes. And for the benefit of the neighbors they are thinking out loud."

Many a man has found himself undone from trying to do others.

Avoid risks. Two natures will seem to struggle in your mind. The advantages offered by each should be taken, but when they conflict your actions should be according to reason, rather than impulse.

OUR SYSTEM.

"What is meant by graft?" said the inquiring foreigner.

"Graft," said the resident of a great city, "is a system which ultimately results in compelling a large portion of the population to apologize constantly for not having money, and the remainder to explain how they got it."—Washington Star.

FIRST THINGS

The first man to descend the Mississippi to the Gulf was Robert Cavellier, Sieur de La Salle, who was born in Rouen, France, 269 years ago today. Settling in Canada at the age of 23, La Salle began his explorations with an attempt to reach China by descending the Ohio River, which he supposed to empty into the Pacific. As soon as he discovered that the Ohio flowed into the Mississippi and the latter into the Gulf, he formed the project of descending the Mississippi to its mouth. The long voyage was concluded after many and severe hardships. La Salle named the Mississippi the River Colbert, after his patron at the court of France, and to the valley of the river and the regions of its tributaries he gave the name of Louisiana. La Salle explored various parts of Michigan, Ontario and other sections in the Great Lakes district and founded a trading post on the site of the present city of Peoria, Ill. La Salle was assassinated by some of his disgruntled followers while exploring what is now the state of Texas.

FOOTBALL MAN DIES WHISTLING AND SINGING

Akron, Nov. 22.—Death was the victor in one of the most valiant fights for life ever made by a patient at the Akron City Hospital, when John E. "Key" Wilson, manager of the Indian football team, leading contenders for the professional football championship of Ohio, succumbed to an operation for appendicitis.

Singing his favorite songs and whistling to keep up his courage almost until the last spark of life remained, Wilson fought death with that same spirit which characterized the work of his gridiron heroes. Mr. Wilson continued to repeat to the nurses and his friends that he must live until his team had won the state football championship.

"I cannot and must not die—I shall be out of here in time to see the boys win the state title," he said. And then he would proceed to sing or whistle one of his favorite songs.

Mr. Wilson was one of the most popular young men in Akron. Hundreds of friends called daily at the hospital to inquire as to his condition. His room was filled with flowers sent by sorrowing friends.

The funeral will be held Saturday.

AMUSEMENTS

To Auditorium Patrons: In announcing the appearance here of Eugene Walter's great play, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," on Monday, Nov. 25, I do so with the utmost confidence that it will please Newark theatre-goers better than any attraction we have had this season. Having seen the production last season, I can safely guarantee it as being one of the very best dramatic attractions on tour and assure my patrons that they have one of the real dramatic treats of the season in store for them Monday evening.

F. E. JOHNSON,
Mgr. Auditorium,
Beverly.

"Beverly" and the Beverly hat and veil will be the attraction at the Auditorium tomorrow, when Miss Dorothy Howard, former leading lady with Nat Goodwin and Cyril Scott in the "Prince Chap," will be seen in the title role of Beverly Calhoun.

It is a low crowned hat of heavy white beaver, with a broad flat brim. Around the edge, about an inch and a quarter wide, is a band of pale blue velvet, and cleverly draped over the crown so that it falls down over the sides is a beautiful silk veil in pale blue, the whole forming a creation that, though simple, is more than beautiful. It is a hat that appeals to more than one type of beauty.

The Trail of the Lonesome Pine.

It is impossible to say how many people have read "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," the delightful story which John Fox Jr. wrote about the primitive mountain folk of the Virginia hills. Eugene Walter has brought out all the strength of Mr. Fox's delightful story; he has made June and her kinfolk delightful stage characters, visualizing in his virile manner the scenes and manners of a rugged people.

The business done by the production was the largest of any dramatic play in recent years, and it proved a tremendous success in Boston, New York and Chicago, where it enjoyed long runs. The present company is surrounded with a magnificent equipment of scenery and electrical effects, which render the play more vivid in beauty of scene and action. The fact that the production is to appear in the Auditorium Monday, Nov. 25, should interest every local theatre-goer. Seats are now on sale.

Alma, Where Do You Live?

"Alma, Where Do You Live?" is scheduled to appear at the Auditorium Wednesday, Nov. 27. The piece is one of the most exquisite musical plays that was ever brought to this country; its melodies are of the humming and whistling kind. The book is by Paul Herve, the music by Jean Briquet and the English translation was made by George V. Hobart. A most alluring waltz runs through the entire play. Florence Mills will be seen in the title role, supported by a company of capable Broadway players. Seats go on sale Monday.

The White Squaw.

A play that is said to have valid claim upon the admiration and patronage of votaries of the stage is "The White Squaw," the romantic American drama to be seen at the Auditorium Thanksgiving, matinee and night. The play is by the actor, Della M. Clarke, and the scenes are laid in Michigan about 100 years ago. "The White Squaw" is the story of primitive folk of simple custom and straightforward living, and, like strings that vibrate in musical harmony, the elements of love, romance, laughter and heart interest.

Scene in "Trail of the Lonesome Pine," at Auditorium Nov. 25.

are employed in the making of a spoken and acting melody. There is not the slightest vestige of vice, villainy or sensation to the play, but it has already been declared to be one of the big, strong volumes in the theatrical library of America. Seats go on sale Tuesday at 9 a. m.

Great Artist Coming.

Sophia Stephall, the great artist, who comes to the First Presbyterian church next Monday and Tuesday, under auspices of the Juvenile Aid Society, in a series of three lecture-concerts, needs no introduction to those who have kept pace with the musical history of Europe. Although an American by birth, Stephall's greatest triumphs have been won in Europe and the critics unite in acclaiming her a singer of the first rank. But Stephall has not been without her triumphs in America, short though her recital tours have been, and press and public join in her praise.

She has been chosen by the National Society for Broader Education from a host of singers as the one woman who combines with the supreme qualifications of the artist the highest ability as a teacher. Indeed, Correlli, perhaps the greatest living teacher of voice in Germany, says: "Your voice is wonderful, but your power of imparting knowledge of music and things musical is no less great." Bicknell Young says: "You are unapproachable in your work." Stephall's voice is a coloratura mezzo-soprano of great breadth and power and it has a sweetness that can only be described by the term sensations. Her technique is superb and her method perfect.

Stephall will be here Monday night and Tuesday afternoon and night.

The Orpheum.

An excellent bill greeted the patrons of the Orpheum theatre Thursday evening, and it will be a good drawing card for the remainder of the week. The Little Arcadia theatre was packed and every number on the program was accorded generous applause.

Miss Ida Carlton was accorded the opening number. She is a handsome, winning miss and has a full, rich voice which she can handle in a manner that proves her an artist of more than ordinary efficiency. Miss Carlton makes three changes, and her wardrobe is one of the most complete ever worn by a vaudeville actress, one of her dresses being designed by a Paris modiste while on a visit to the French capital last summer.

The two Yiddishers proved a clever team, although one was suffering with a bad cold, and hoarseness prevented him from exercising the full power of his voice. Their monologue was good and made a distinct hit.

Jesse Hale & Company in the little playlet, "The Burglar," pleased everybody. Especially fine was the histrionic ability displayed by a little four-year-old child, who has the dialogue with the burglar caught robbing her mother's home and who proves to be her own father.

Leen and the Adlen Sisters in a comedy juggling stunt was the big hit of the evening. The comedy work of Leen was something entirely different from the usual burlesque work in similar acts. The ladies were splendid in their work and the act is bound to be a big drawing card today and tomorrow.

Prof. Perry G. Holden, formerly a dean in the Iowa State Agricultural college, known as an authority on corn, has been made head of the bureau. It is understood the Har- vester company has set aside $1,000,- 000 for this work.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

NOW you have often said: "Oh dear, I dread when eating time comes near. It's not so much the cooking, scrub, but cleaning after,"—there's the "rub." Each kitchen holds a mass of work, no tidy little wife should shrink.

Gold Dust vs. Kitchen Worry

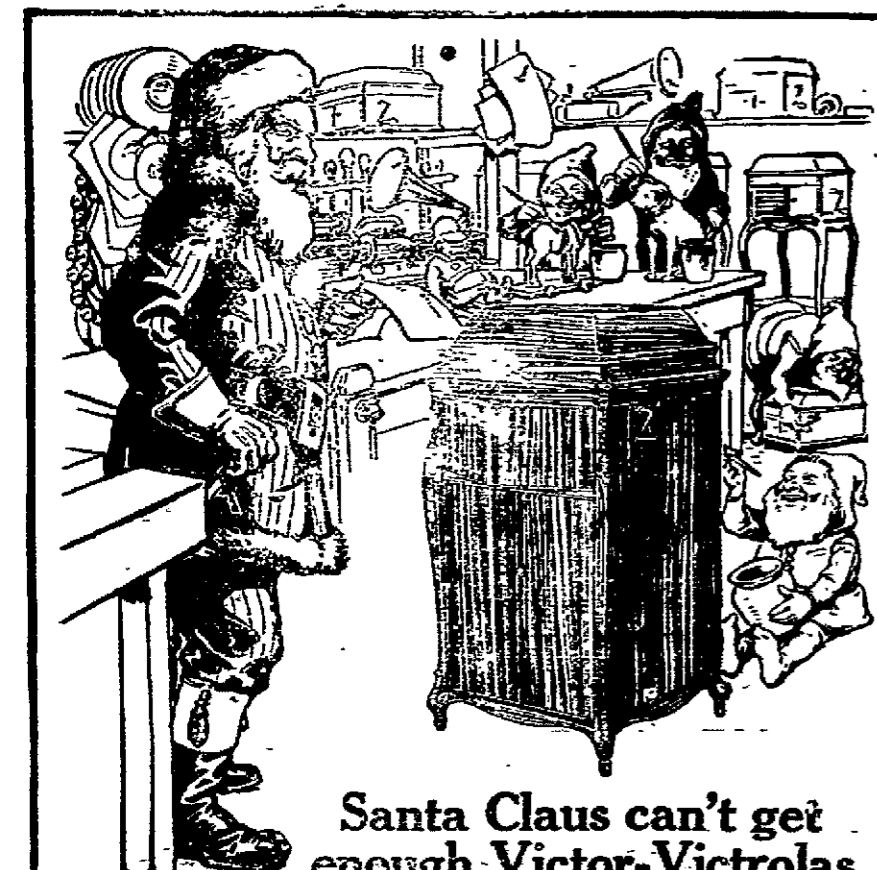

The kitchen floor, the kitchen sink, the kitchen kettles and the pans, the silver, glass and cups and cans; wherever you may look, the toil means more than any kettles boil. To just "prepare" a meal is "fun," but work, with THAT is scarce "begun."

If those who stay up days and nights to win the cause of "Women's Rights" would only vote the GOLD DUST PLAN they soon would have the best of man. More time for comfort and for smiles; more time to play a woman's wiles, for once the GOLD DUST TWINS appear, Hard Labor's cry you never hear; frail woman is a queenly soul who plays the "Take-it-Easy" role. Each GOLD DUST package sets her free by bearing out its guarantee, and never more those household woes that every weary woman knows. Pile up the dishes as you will, the GOLD DUST TWINS will clean 'em still. Old floors and woodwork sinks and pans, turn out as Master Cleaner Plans. From sun to sun, and chore to chore, your tasks will fret you nevermore.

AUTO DROWNED BY 'FRISCO MAN; COST TOO MUCH

San Francisco, Nov. 22.—Obeying the orders of his employer, H. H. Hart of Oakland, James Lutz, a chauffeur, ran a $1500 automobile off the rear of a ferryboat in San Francisco Bay yesterday. Hart's desire to drown the offending automobile was reached after it had rolled up a repair bill amounting to $2000. Yesterday he called Lutz into his library.

"Take that car out and lose it," he said.

"I can't lose it," said Lutz. "It's too well known. Somebody would find it and bring it back again."

"Then sink it in the middle of the bay," said Hart.

For the first time in weeks the car ran smoothly to the ferry station and was driven aboard the boat. Lutz asked the mate to show him the deepest spot in the harbor. When the boat reached the designated place, Lutz stealthily ran the car to the vessel apron. Then he pulled wide the throttle and leaped to the deck. The automobile splashed into the bay.

RICHEST WOMAN IN WORLD NOW 78

New York, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Hetty Green, the richest woman in the world, was 78 years old yesterday.

"It's no holiday though," she declared at her square little rosewood desk at the head of Wall street. "Why should I take a holiday and waste a whole day just because I happened to be born on Nov. 21, 1834?"

Mrs. Green consented to relax just long enough to dictate a series of don'ts for girls. They were:

"Don't envy. Don't overdress. Don't fail to go to church. Don't eat anything but good, wholesome food. Don't cheat in your business dealings. Don't forget to be charitable. Don't forget to take a lot of exercise. Don't forget to obey the laws of God."

R. C. Jones, the patient, developed the disease after boarding the sleeper at La Junta, Colo.

State health officials ordered the sleeper cut off the train and the passengers and car to undergo fumigation. Jones was hurried by automobile from Castle Rock to a Denver plague hospital.

ST. VITUS' DANCE

The Cure of This Case Is of Vital Interest to the Parents of Every Nervous Child.

Mr. James E. Thompson, a well-known printer, of No. 301 West Iowa street, Memphis, Tenn., has recently told of a cure in his family that will interest every nervous sufferer. Parents of pale, weak, nervous school children will be especially interested. Mr. Thompson said:

"I have a son, Ray, who at the age of five years was scared by some boys. In about two weeks' time he broke down or gave away completely. He had to go to bed and the doctors said that he had St. Vitus' dance. During the entire night and for many nights he would lie awake and cry. He could not sleep at all, but would roll and toss all night long. His arms and head jerked and twitched and he became so nervous that he could not feed himself. He got so that he couldn't even speak. He had particularly bad spells, which came on about every three months. He was confined to bed for two months when he was first taken sick."

"I had a nerve specialist and two of the best physicians in Memphis with him during the first year of the disease. They couldn't do anything for him and didn't help him a bit. Finally the last physician said that he would have to outgrow it. I then bought a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They helped him right away and, although he had been sick for a year and a half, he began to eat and to gain strength. I gave him the pills until he entirely recovered his health. He has never had an attack of St. Vitus' dance since. He is attending school and is in perfect health."

St. Vitus' dance, nervous debility or neurasthenia, neuralgia, sciatica, nervous headaches and nervous dyspepsia are due to tired, weak, exhausted nerves. The best treatment in each case is to build up and purify the blood, which alone can give the nerves nourishment. Unless you build up the blood, it is useless to try to reach the nerves with medicine or nourishment. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain the very elements which enable the blood to nourish the nerves until they become strong.

Write today for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

OUR MOTTO: NOT HOW CHEAP BUT HOW GOOD

Every Home Needs This Fine Remedy

A Mild, Reliable, Laxative-Tonic is Something No Family Should Be Without.

No well-regulated home should be without a laxative for there is scarcely a day in a family of several persons that someone doesn't complain of a headache, of sleeplessness, or show the first signs of a cold.

A laxative then becomes a necessity or what was a trifling congestion at the beginning may run into a serious cold or fever. No harsh remedy is needed, but simply a mild laxative- tonic that will make the liver active and stir up the bowels. People who have tried a great many things, and are themselves heads of families who have seen the little ills run to big ones, will tell you that there is nothing better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the family size.

Among the great believers in Syrup Pepsin for constipation in old or young, and as a general household emergency remedy, are Mrs. H. McCloskey, 33 Lee Park Ave., Wilkes Barre, Pa., and Mr. Fred Ansmann, 294 Union Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., and they always have a bottle of it in the home. It is scientifically compounded and its purity is vouched for by mothers and give it to tiny babies, and grown people, taking a little larger amount, and it equally effective. It is mild and gentle, pleasant-tasting and free from griping.

It does not hide behind the name of a popular fruit or vegetable, and is absolutely free from any prohibited ingredient. Families who once use Syrup Pepsin forever after avoid cathartics, salts, pills and other harsh medicines, for these only do temporary good, are nauseous and a shock to any delicate system. Such things should never be given to children.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 412 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

GOES TO CARLSBAD FOR RADIUM CURE

Abbas Hilmi II.

There was great surprise in Carlsbad, Bohemia, the other day when Abbas Hilmi II, Khedive of Egypt, arrived with an extensive suite and announced that he intended to take the radium cure at St. Joachimsthal, a nearby town. The surprise was that he should come from his warm native land into a temperature ranging down to within ten degrees of zero and that after the season is past.

The Khedive would attract attention anywhere, not only because he is the ruler of Egypt, but for the reason that he won the hand of a Christian lady of a noble Austrian family.

Some fellows never go to work until they are convinced they can't make a living in any other way.

Surpassed Them All.

A near race riot had ended in a southern town. The negroes gathered in one crowd and the whites in another. The whites fired their revolvers into the air, and the negroes took to their heels. Next day a plantation owner said to one of his men: "Sam, were you in that crowd that gathered last night?" "Yassir." "Did you run like the wind, Sam?" "No sir. I didn't run like the wind, 'deed I didn't. But I passed two niggers that was running like the wind."—Pennsylvania Grit.

most important in the historic series. True it is that after 1875, Harvard was not able to come back until 15 weary years had passed. Hope long deferred did not make the Crimson heart sick, however, and they kept pluckily at it, and in 1890 were rewarded with a victory. Then followed another long string of Elms triumphs, until in 1898 the Crimson unexpectedly—to Yale—overwhelmed the ancient enemy by 17 to 0. This contest was preceded and followed by a tie, but in 1900 Yale turned the tables and whipped Harvard by the disgraceful score of 23 to 0. Such shameful defeat made the Crimson work valiantly for revenge, and they got it the very next year. When the smoke of battle had cleared away the score stood: Harvard 22, Yale 0. In 1902 Yale smothered Harvard 23 to 0, and for six years Harvard did not score in a single game. In 1908 the Harvard star was again in the ascendant, Kennard's famous goal from the field turning the tide and enabling the Crimson to win 4 to 0. In 1909 Yale won 8 to 0, but in 1910 and again last year, Harvard held the Elms to a tie.

HARVARD-YALE
FOOTBALL RECORDS ARE WRONG

Tomorrow's annual gridiron contest between Yale and Harvard will bring out the usual compilations of past games, and most of them will be wrong. Practically all of the tables of Crimson-Blue football games show the classic series as beginning in 1876, when as a matter of fact the sons of Eli and John Harvard met the first time in November of 1875, Harvard winning by a score of 4 goals to 0. Crimson victories have been infrequent enough since then, and Harvard is certainly entitled to credit for winning that initial contest. "Yale and Harvard have met at football 21 times," says a supposedly reliable sporting handbook, "and Harvard has won only four times." The statement as to the number of games played is correct, but Harvard has been the victor five times. Another football authority, writing in a New York paper, declares that "Harvard won its first victory in 1890," ignoring the game which, by priority if for no other reason, is entitled to rank as one of the

Bankers Open Warfare on Blue Sky "Securities"

To wage a determined warfare on the sucker industry is the chief object of a new organization of leading bankers of the United States and Canada, known as the Investment Bankers' Association of America, which is scheduled to hold its first annual meeting in New York today. Doubtless the members of the body are animated by self motives, for millions of dollars that might otherwise be handled by legitimate bond men, bankers and brokers, now pour into the coffers of the "get-rich-quick" promoters.

Already the sellers of handsomely engraved "securities" which represent holes in the ground of Ontario, Nevada or Colorado, rubber plantations in Mexico and South America, oil wells in California and Texas, magazines in New York, orchards in the Northwest, and numerous other "industries," are finding it rather hard sledding. The governments of both the United States and Canada have been much more stringent of late years in prosecuting the more flagrant of the frauds of this character. Kansas has led the way with a "blue sky law," rigidly enforced, that has driven the fakirs from that state and has saved the people millions of dollars a year.

In all ages swindlers have sought to separate the unwary and the credulous from their money, but the "blue sky" promoter is of comparatively recent origin. John Law, the Scotch financier, who originated the "Mississippi Scheme," might be called the father of the brood, but the methods of this eighteenth century promoter were crude compared with those of the stock-jobbing gentry of today.

The discovery of gold in California in 1849 marked the real beginning of the American sucker industry. For several decades the promoters of worthless stocks confined their attentions principally to alleged mines and oil wells. It is said that a sucker is born every minute, and certainly the record of the activities of promoters goes far toward proving the truth of the proverb. Goldfield and Cobalt have been the excuse for hundreds of recent flotations of worthless "securities," but on the whole the investing public has somewhat tired of mines and oil wells.

The shrewd shearers of sheep, observing that the lamb were growing a bit weary of Colorado, has labored to supply them with other investments equally sound. Recently the sucker market has been flooded with "industrials" of every variety, ranging from schemes for extracting gold from sea water to apparently feasible manufacturing projects. The wireless telegraph afforded the grafters a magnificent opportunity that they did not overlook, although some of the swindlers are now in prison. A year or two ago, rubber plantation stocks had a tremendous vogue, especially in England, and millions of dollars rewarded the laborers in this vineyard. The fortunes accumulated by Munsey, Harmsworth and others in the publishing business made good "sucker bait" for the promotion of various magazine properties, most of which are now extinct, with the investors holding the bag. Railroads that exist only on paper, orchards equally as intangible, and a thousand and one other schemes have served to make their promoters rich—or send them to jail.

People of small means, hoping to get something for nothing, or much for little, have always been the victim of this class of swindlers. The victim is not entirely blameless, for the possession of the rudiments of common sense should have been enough to protect him against such visionary schemes.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

By O. Terrence.

SIR GILBERT PARKER, CANADIAN AUTHOR, 50 TOMORROW.

Canada's most eminent man of letters, Sir Gilbert Parker, will celebrate his fiftieth birthday tomorrow, having been born at Camden, East, Ont., on Nov. 22, 1862. His novels of Canadian life, breathing the pure and free air of the western wilderness, struck a new note in literature and made Sir Gilbert's name known wherever the English language is read. His works are as popular in England, the United States and Australia as in his native Dominion. A knight and an M. P., a statesman as well as a writer, Sir Gilbert's views on all public questions affecting the welfare of the British Empire are eagerly sought and widely published.

The distinguished author was christened Horatio Gilbert Parker, but the first name was abandoned when he began his literary career. He was educated in English and Canadian schools, completing his studies at Trinity College in Toronto. At that institution he was for a time a lecturer on English literature, and also studied for the church, but ill health and other causes prevented him from taking orders. He turned journalist, instead, beginning his newspaper career in Sydney, Australia. At twenty-four he had become associate editor of the Sydney Morning Herald. He left that post to make a cruise about the South Seas. This voyage afforded inspiration and material for a drama, which was not very successful.

Sir Gilbert—then plain Mr. Parker—left the antipodes in 1890 and proceeded to London, where he soon gained fame as a writer of short stories. These early tales dealt with life in the Canadian Northwest in the days when the Hudson Bay company was the sole link between savagery and civilization. The half-breed, the Indian and the various types of white pioneers were pictured with accuracy and fidelity to truth and with a literary charm that enthralled the reader. Originally published in London magazines and weeklies, these stories were brought out in book form in 1892, under the title of "Pierre and His People." Several other volumes followed, including "The Trail of the Sword," "The Trespasser," and "The Translation of a Savage." Then came "The Seats of the Mighty," a romance of old Quebec under the French regime. This novel appeared in 1896 and soon gained for the Canadian author a big following throughout America and England. "The Battle of the Strong," in 1896, was another great success, and the writer's reputation was further enhanced by "When Valmond Came to Pontiac," a novel based on the plot of the great Ottawa chief who sought to undo the work of the conquest. "The Right of Way," "The Ladder of Swords," and many other volumes have since been added to the book shelves of Parker's multitude of admirers.

Sir Gilbert is fond of all outdoor sports, and especially of golf, riding, rowing and shooting. He is interested in many movements for the improvement of educational methods and economic and social progress. In a recent address he asserted that priggishness and provincialism were vices acquired in college, and suggested international exchange of students as a remedy. While he spends most of his time in England, he retains a keen interest in his native land, and is outspoken in his opposition to any agreements between Canada and the United States which might by any possibility open a way for the annexation of the former by the latter. Since the days of Blaine, he recently declared, it has been the settled policy of many statesmen of the United States to bring about a commercial annexation followed by a political annexation of the Dominion.

MATINEE OF SILK IN PASTEL TONES

Matinee of pompadour silk in pastel tones with trimmings of old-French pink charmeses. The dress is outlined by narrow blue folds of the old-French pink. The model requires, in medium size, 2 1/4 yards of 24-inch material; 2 1/4 yard of 30-inch material for trimming. Labels: Belding's.

For a mild, easy action of the bowels, try Belding's Laxative, a modern laxative. 25c at all stores.

LOPSIDED LAWS

Oh, we have laws as thick as straws upon a stable floor; the harmless sport is hauled to court and fined till he is sore. You cannot walk around a block but what some laws are cracked, and you must sneak before the beak and by him up be jerked. For trifling things we're pulled, by jings and carted off to jail, and we must spend of time no end a-rustling round for bail. But is a crank like Mr. Schrank decides some one to slay, he takes his mon and buys a gun and no one says him nay. Thou shalt not place a bet on race, or play a slot machine; thou shalt not speed the foaming steed or your chug-chug machine; but you may go at will and blow yourself for deadly tools; which makes us pause and think that laws are oft laid down by fools. You cannot get a cigarette in divers moral states, but you can still buy guns to kill in wagonloads or crates. You cannot win a slug of gin to clear your throat of fur; but any jay who's fixed to pay may buy a howitzer. You'll go to jail if you hunt quail, the game law's in your way; but vicious cranks, Gun laws and Schrank's, a license have to pay.

PREDICT MILD TARIFF MEASURE

Republicans Say Opponents Will Revise With Caution.

FEAR A SLUMP IN BUSINESS.

Point to Third Plank of Democratic Platform to Support Their Contention—
One Term Bill to Be Fully Discussed—McClellan Mentioned For the Cabinet—Champ Clark's Hopes.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—If you don't win you can utter your "def." That seems to be the favorite method of leading Republicans who have returned to Washington and are interviewed regarding the late political cataclysm. "The Democrats won't dare pass a tariff bill in accordance with their declarations," "The Democrats will produce an industrial revolution if they pass a tariff bill such as they have advocated," "The Democrats will not dare pass a tariff for revenue bill," and such like statements have been filling the papers and quoted from men who have so long been in the majority that they do not know what minority means.

The Third Paragraph.

There are five paragraphs in the tariff plank of the Democratic national platform, but to my mind the third paragraph is all important at this stage of the proceedings. It says, "We recognize that our system of tariff taxation is intimately connected with the business of the country, and we favor the ultimate attainment of the principles we advocate by legislation that will not injure or destroy legitimate industry."

The business people of the United States have given more consideration to that paragraph and to what President Elect Wilson has said than to all the shouts and denunciations heard on the stump and in congress by the orators who wanted to be elected. There can be very mild tariff revision under that third paragraph.

One Term Resolution.

The unfinished business in the senate is the resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution limiting the term of the president to one term of six years. It has been debated at some length, and it ought to make interesting discussion again in view of the fact that the Democratic platform declares in favor of one term and that Mr. Bryan does not intend to let that declaration be forgotten. Besides, there is still the possibility of more bull moosing four years hence.

"The McClellan Democracy."

The mention of George B. McClellan for secretary of war recalls the time when he was the leader of the "McClellan Democracy" in the house, a party which consisted solely of McClellan. He was the only Democrat voting on many questions which came before the house. Afterward he was six years mayor of New York. He is a Princeton man, and it may be that Governor Wilson would look with favor upon him as a member of his cabinet. McClellan would be warmly welcomed in Washington.

Senatorial Deadlocks.

All the time there was doubt about the political complexion of different state legislatures and attempts were being made to show whether the Democrats would have control of the senate, no one seemed to give a thought as to what would happen in case of deadlocks. And yet there was all the time the probability of several legislatures being tied up so that there would be a number of vacancies.

It is possible that two seats will depend upon the failure of Illinois to elect. Maine may be tied up because the Progressives will not vote for Edwin C. Burleigh, the stand pat caucus selection. In West Virginia it is conceded that the Progressives have more votes than the Republicans and there is a hot fight between William Edwards, the bull mooser leader, and Davis Elkins. It is possible that Michigan may not elect. Thus four seats are likely to be vacant, giving the Democrats easy control, even if they did not have a clear majority of the ninety-six senators.

Not Too Close.

"I do not want to be too close to the new administration," remarked a senator from a southern state. "You see, my state is rather close to Washington, and I don't want the whole bunch of office seekers on my back telling me to get places for them. It will be better if they think that I am not one of the 'kitchen cabinet' with a key to the back door."

The probabilities are that mighty few men in the senate or elsewhere can lay claim to being "close to the president" in the next administration.

Champ Clark Has Hopes.

Speaker Champ Clark, looking gloomy, but yet with a keen sense of humor which keeps up his spirits, wants the Democrats to accomplish results since they have come into power. The speaker will not soon recover from the disappointment he experienced last summer. No man of our times was so near the great goal and failed. But he wants Democracy to continue triumphant, for he is not going to be any too old four years hence. Time passes quickly when a man passes threescore.

The married man who is given a free foot has no kick coming.

Cynic and Siren

The Cynic, who had been speaking earnestly for some moments, finally came to a stop and looked at the Siren expectantly.

"After all," she murmured dreamily, "what is love?"

"Love?" repeated the Cynic vaguely. "Oh, love—love is a concrete name given to many abstract emotions. Sometimes it's the frame, and sometimes it's the picture; and sometimes it's just—a spasm round the heart."

"I'm afraid you really are a Cynic," said the Siren regretfully.

"A Cynic," said he gloomily, "is a man who knows everything, and understands nothing. Thank you."

The Siren looked dubious, but natural kindness of disposition kept her silent. "How," she demanded presently, "can one be sure that one is in love?"

"That," sighed the Cynic, "is the eternal tragedy of life."

"That one can't be sure?"

"No, that one always is sure."

"I don't see that that's tragic," she protested.

"Ah, but it is. Though ignorance may be bliss, when it becomes knowledge it's tragedy."

"But knowledge," argued the Siren, "is happiness."

"A phrase," he sneered, "taught to cheerful fools by gloomy philosophers. The only wisdom is cheerfulness. A thing is what we think it."

"You're frightfully—what's the word?—enigmatical," said the Siren pathetically. "I wish you wouldn't be. You're so deep, it's like talking to a coal mine."

There was silence for a few moments.

"You haven't given me my answer yet," urged the man.

"I'm trying to think of it," answered the woman.

"If one only knew what love was!" said the Siren plaintively. "Does it lead to a union of hearts or a dissolution of marriage?"

"Neither," replied the Cynic. "Love is a footpath leading to everywhere; or, if you prefer it, it's a porchway leading to a house that's just as big as you think it is."

"For a beginner," said the Siren distrustfully, "you talk with a good deal of authority."

"Love," he explained, "differs in that respect from other sciences. We begin as experts and wind up as novices."

"You mean, then," said the Siren, to whom love was an art and not a science, "that you don't really know anything about love?"

"On the contrary," said the Cynic patiently, "I have just been to some trouble to explain to you that I know everything."

"H'm," said the Siren doubtfully. "Well, let's take marriage."

"Had we got as far as marriage?" she broke off to inquire. "Well, anyhow, marriage is akin to love, and we'd got to that."

"Some people say marriage means taking from both and giving to neither; halving one's joys and doubling one's sorrows. Of course, that's the selfish point of view," she admitted.

"From any point of view," said the Cynic, "marriage is selfish. Both parties receive so much and give so little."

"They say," resumed the Siren reflectively, "that marriages are made in heaven; I'm afraid they're mostly made for export, though."

"On the contrary," objected the Cynic, "all true marriages are lived in heaven."

"But marriage is so—so definite," she said nervously; "one word, and snap—it's just a trap."

"Quite as often it's the bait."

"Do you think so? Why is it people do marry?"

"The modern girl," said the Cynic, living up to his reputation, "appears to marry because she wants to learn how to cook; the young man because he's afraid of his landlady."

"No, but seriously."

"Seriously, the woman marries because she wants to be taken care of, and the man that he may have somebody to respect him. They are both doomed to disappointment; in a few months it's the man who gets taken care of, and the woman who gets the respect."

"Do you mean," demanded the Siren, "that a woman never respects her husband?"

"Not if she loves him."

"Not?" Her voice became almost shrill. "Not, did you say?"

"Yes. A woman may sometimes love, or sometimes respect her husband, but she can't do both. It is weakness we love, strength we only respect. It is one of the compensations of nature that the weakling should love everything in the fight of life—except the one thing worth winning. The strong man may found a nation, but not a family; may defend a million hearths, but never one of his own. To one, the sweetness of defeat; to the other, the bitterness of victory."

There was silence for a moment.

"What is your answer?" said the man. "Will you marry me?"

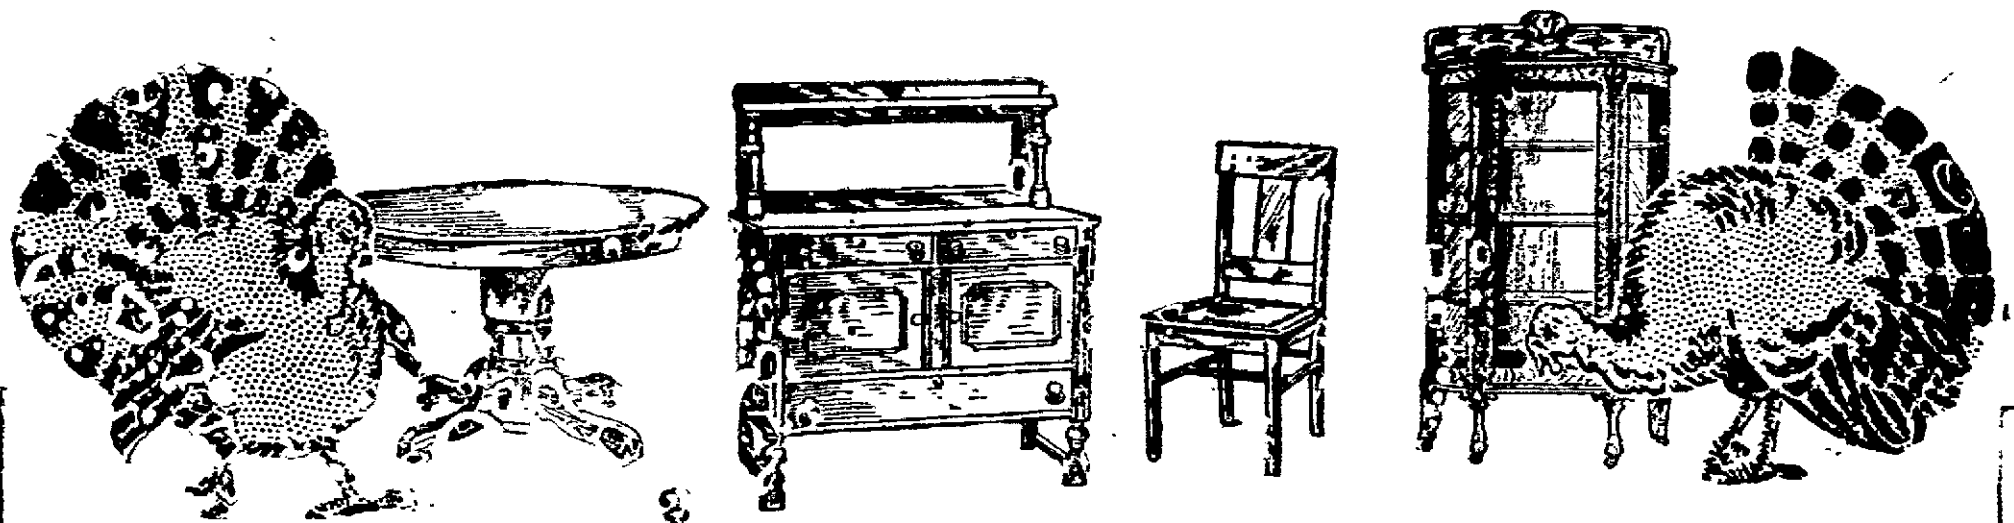

"But—but I respect you," she faltered, her eyes dewy with regret.

"A woman should always respect her lover; it is her husband she should love."

"Then—it's yes."

Don't pay more for your experience than it's worth.

BECAME A MERE SHADOW OF HIS FORMER SELF

J. H. Cowles Says Vin Hepatica Is the Only Medicine That Ever Did Him Any Good.

Relative to the remarkable disease-builer now being introduced through out the United States, J. H. Cowles, 209 South Lowry avenue, Springfield, Ohio, made the following statement recently:

"I have had catarrh and stomach trouble for a number of years. My condition was such that I could not eat without suffering great distress afterwards. I lost flesh until I was a mere shadow of my former self. I was troubled with dizziness, backache, constipation, backache, tired easily, was liable to take a bad cold any time, would get up with a coated tongue and bad taste in my mouth.

"Nothing did me any good until I began taking Vin Hepatica. Since then I have gained strength steadily. The catarrh has disappeared from my entire system. I am fully convinced that Vin Hepatica is the best medicine in the world and will speak a good word for it everywhere I go."

Vin Hepatica is on sale at T. J. Evans, as he has the exclusive agency for the sale of same in Newark.

SCHIRANK WAS INSANE.

Milwaukee, Nov. 22.—The commission of attorneys investigating the mental condition of John Schirank, who shot Colonel Roosevelt today reported unanimously he was insane.

FIREMEN MAY REFER MATTER TO ATTORNEY GENERAL

It is probable that Attorney General Beam will be asked to interfere in case of the firemen in the matter of being paid "days off" for the city council last Monday night. The council took no action on the matter, even refusing to refer the petition to the safety committee. It was read by the clerk and the motion to refer was not seconded so the commission was passed.

A state law passed by the legislature in May, 1910, is to the effect that no city shall require the firemen to be on duty continuously more than six days in seven. The firemen asked for one day off in six, which would give them a chance for a Sunday off, which is not possible under the "one day off in seven" plan.

QUICKLY CURES THE WORST BACKACHE

New Remedy Makes Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders and Rheumatic Pains Disappear, as if By Magic.

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backache, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely cures all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of removing the cause. Pills, tablets and other remedies, at the best, merely stimulate the kidneys, giving temporary relief. Croxone cleans out the poisons.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well. It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puff swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

CAN ONLY SELL RABBITS

The hunters who think selling rabbits is unlawful, may allay their fears at once, for it is as lawful to sell the elusive bunny as it is to put beef or potatoes on the market. "It is lawful to sell rabbits," said State Game Warden Charles E. Haines. "It does not matter whether the rabbits be sold at a grocery or from a peddler's wagon. It is immaterial whether they were shot by the man who sells them or whether he himself bought them from a hunter. But rabbits are the only game which may be sold, squirrels and all game birds, such as quail and wild ducks, differ from rabbits in this respect. It is unlawful to sell, buy or offer them for sale or expose them for sale whether they be killed within the state or elsewhere."

NEWARK MERCHANTS VICTIMS OF THE ST. LOUIS AGENCY

Solicitor of Firm Which Operated in This City Arrested at Chicago—Nation-wide Swindling.

The following Chicago dispatch has local interest as it details the operations of the Barr-Widen people in Newark about three months ago. During the summer a dapper young man called upon some of the leading merchants of Newark and solicited their bad accounts, offering to collect them upon a commission basis. The man asked for no money but simply a list of accounts. Later another young man called upon each merchant and reported that investigation had been made and that a large part of the accounts could be collected. He looked like "easy money" and at least eight or a dozen local people entered into contracts. Each was required to make an advance payment for "attorney fees" and when protest was made the checks of other respectable firms in Newark and Zanesville were exhibited. Upon some of these checks the representative or his company realized cash, but one man became suspicious and made certain inquiries. Telephones were used and payment upon several checks was stopped. The St. Louis concern became indignant at the "repudiation" of contracts and threatened suit, but suit was never instituted. Several people here lost some money through the transaction but the majority of those who signed contracts saved their money by stopping payment of the checks. Here is the sequel in a Chicago dispatch:

A. H. Freeman, 40 years old, local agent and solicitor for the Barr & Widen Mercantile Agency of St. Louis, for whom a warrant charging the operation of confidence men had been issued has surrendered himself to the police and later was released on bonds of $5,000.

Jos. D. Widen, a member of the firm, is said to have committed suicide in St. Louis on Tuesday when detectives attempted to arrest him.

"Freeman is accused in connection with alleged nation-wide swindling operations, which, according to the police, has netted the St. Louis concern several hundred thousand dollars.

"Three other alleged solicitors of the mercantile company are under arrest in Syracuse, N. Y., according to the police."

Parents and a number of friends in the city of the Senior class of the Newark High school have received the following invitations:

The Senior Class cordially invites you to a Thanksgiving Program at the High School Auditorium Wednesday evening, November 27th at eight o'clock Admission free.

BOYD-VANDORN.

A fitting culmination of a college romance was the marriage at high noon Tuesday of Miss Olive J. Vandorn of Pataskala, and Mr. Bertram D. Boyd of Cleveland.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mailda Van Dorn of Town street in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Rev. S. M. F. Nesbitt of Dennison, Ohio, officiated in his usual gracious and impressive manner. The ring ceremony was used.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was served and later Mr. and Mrs. Boyd were driven to Et-na where they took an interurban car for Columbus, from which place they took a train for Cleveland.

The bride is a young lady who stands high in the estimation of numerous friends here, who will wish her the best that life affords. She has ever been an ambitious and industrious young lady, and, while looking upon life seriously, was never insensible to the best of its pleasures. She is a graduate of the Pataskala high school and spent one year at Ohio University at Athens, where she met Mr. Boyd, who is a graduate of that institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd will reside in Cleveland, where the former is employed at his chosen avocation, that of an electrician.—Pataskala Standard.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERER

Thrown Away Cane When Rheumatism Began Swelling from Knees and Ankles.

Every reader of the Advocate who is oppressed or tortured with Rheumatism, Sciatica or Arthritis is invited to go to Evans' Drug Store and see a bottle of RHEUMA, the remedy that made Mrs. Knox happy and healthy. If it doesn't drive the poisonous waste matter from your system and end your agony you can have your money back. A bottle costs but 50 cents.

"For 14 months I was so badly afflicted with Rheumatism that much of the time I was obliged to use a cane in walking. On the recommendation of your druggist in Glens Falls I used one bottle of RHEUMA and the CANE IS IN THE CORNER NOW. No one could be happier than I am to be rid of the pain, swollen knees, contracting muscles under the knee, badly swollen ankles. When I tell you my weight is 238 pounds you will understand what the use of RHEUMA for Rheumatism means to me. I certainly believe there is no remedy for the disease like RHEUMA."

Getting the Whip-hand of Adversity

UT into the walls of a cell in the Tower of London the tourist reads: "Men are not killed with the adversities they have to bear, but with the impatience with which they suffer them."

The philosopher who carved this bit of new thought or old truth, whichever you choose to call it, was Charles Bally, a prisoner in the Tower, and he evolved it several hundred years ago. It means more today to the casual reader than it did then; or rather, the casual reader today looks deeper into it and sees its inner truth more clearly than did the casual reader of Bally's time, who read only the surface.

For many hundreds of years, we have been reading and looking into such truths but a little way. But now we are searching their utmost depths, and we are bringing up much valuable treasure.

For what this philosopher wrote is worth a long, deep, searching scrutiny.

Can you not see that it is the impatience with which we suffer our adversities that does us the real harm, not the adversities themselves? It is the fret and the worry that tears and rends and breaks down our nervous system, not the actual loss of money, or the burning of our home, or the falsity of our friend.

It is the tears we shed that bring on a headache. It is the despondency we feel that upsets our digestion. And thus, if we would, we could trace nearly all our physical ills to a mental state, instead of to the actual material happening upon which we usually blame them. It is the inner state these adversities set up that does the mischief, not the adversities themselves.

What then are we to do?

Some people will say that the two are so inseparably joined that they cannot be given asunder. But are they? Are they not worlds apart?

The inner mental state is you, a spirit, an immaterial, intangible thing, that has the sole control of your body, that has its fingers on all the electric buttons, so to speak, that govern the body's actions.

The adversities are material things that have to do with the material world. They cannot in themselves affect your body. There is no common ground of meeting. The only medium is yourself, this intangible spirit that sits with its fingers on the levers of your physical being.

The thing to do, then, is it not, is to have full control of the self of yours; not to let adversity, in the form of loss of money or friends or health become transmitted into your body as despondency or impatience or discouragement. For these are the things that wear and tear and break the body.

This is hard to do, you say? It is hard to do all at once. But little by little, you can gain this control of yourself, where you can sit easy and calm, your hands on the levers, quite steady, and see these adversities, like enemies, outside, but unable to gain entrance or to make a single nerve tremble, or a single heart-beat unsteady.

And then, you are able to cope with them most efficiently. You can see better how to retrieve your losses. You are able to look, in a big, broad, charitable way at the delinquencies of a friend. You have the machine with which you work in perfect order for the task ahead.

EASY AND SURE WAY TO CURE COLDS

Don't Neglect a Cold—Ely's Cream Balm Will Stop it in the Sneezing Stage.

A cold generally attacks the weakest part, affecting the eyes and ears in some and producing nasal catarrh and throat troubles in others. A cold is due to an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and may be promptly cured with a little Ely's Cream Balm, which immediately relieves the inflammation and all the distressing symptoms, such as sneezing, coughing, running at the nose and eyes, hoarseness, sore throat, fever and headache. One reason why this pure, antiseptic balm acts so quickly is because it is applied directly to the tender, sore surfaces.

Even in severe, chronic cases of catarrh, Ely's Cream Balm never fails to quickly and effectually check the poisonous discharge which clogs the head and throat, causing the disgusting hawking, spitting and blowing of the nose. This remedy not only drives out the disease, but heals and strengthens the weakened membranes, thus ending catarrh.

Smoking to Cure Deafness.

Harriet Martineau suffered from deafness. One who knew her writes: "The degree of deafness varied, and she tried all sorts of remedies. Under the advice of some scientific person she tried smoking. I had the privilege of providing her privately with some very mild cigars, and many and many a summer night have we sat together for half an hour or so in her porch at the knoll, smoking. She tried this remedy for only a few months, but she fancied it had a beneficial effect upon her hearing."

Faults.

To acknowledge our faults when we are blamed in modesty; to discover them to one's friends, in ingenuousness, is confidence; but to preach them to all the world, if one does not take care, is pride.—Confucius.

"Home, Sweet Home."

The original manuscript of "Home, Sweet Home" is said to have been buried in the grave with Miss Harry Harden of Athens, Ga. She was John Howard Parn's sweetheart, but refused to marry him in deference to her father's wishes. After she was separated from her lover she shut herself in the old family mansion, seeing none but a few members of the little church to which she belonged—Independent.

Woman's Confessions.

"When a woman prepares refreshments for a party," said a cynical person, "she takes the inside out of something and puts in it the inside of something else. EVERYBODY'S BUYING BEGY'S MUSTARINE

Fine for sore throat or chest, coughs, lumbago, neuralgia and lameness. won't blister—always ready.

Money back, says Evans' Drug Store, if BEGY'S MUSTARINE isn't better than anything you ever used for everything stated in this little advertisement.

And that means a whole lot of things; pleurisy, for instance, and croup; stiff neck, bronchitis, coughs, cold feet, headache, earache and toothache.

A 25 cent box of BEGY'S MUSTARINE is better than 50 mustard plasters, better than liniments, poultices or hot water bottles. Just rub it on, that's all, and away goes soreness, lameness, sprains, cramps in legs, lame back and swollen or stiff rheumatic joints.

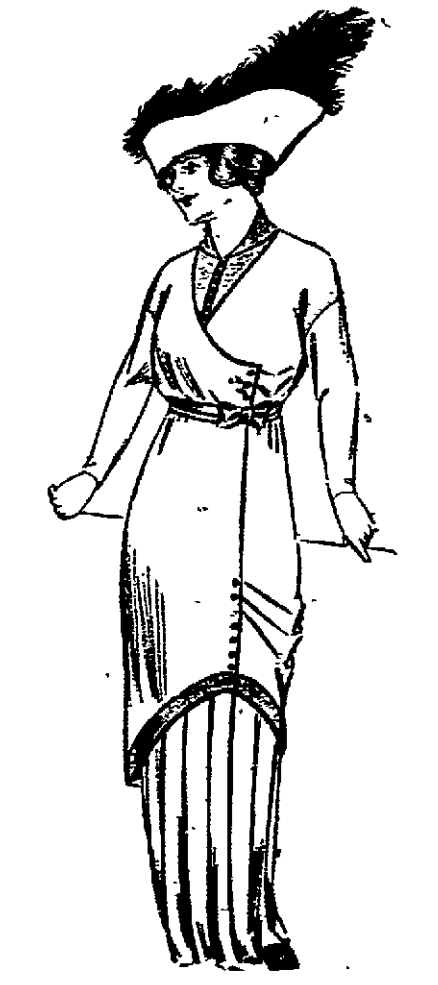

It won't blister; it won't soil; but it will draw all agony from sore, burning feet and aching corns, bunions and callouses. It's fine for chilblains and frosted feet, and remember whatever it does it does quickly. Druggists America over 25 cents. Be sure it's BEGY'S MUSTARINE in yellow box.

Always Fairy Tales.

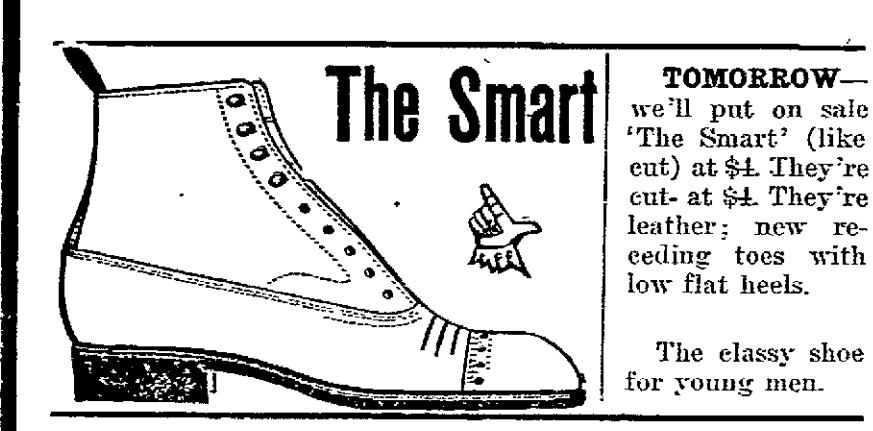

There has never been a language spoken that has not been used for telling fairy tales. Whether in hot lands or cold, among savages or the most cultivated nations—why, not a moment passes in which some one, somewhere, is not telling a fairy tale, or listening to one, or reading one, or perhaps writing a new one. Which makes it delightfully probable that we shall always have them with us, however scarce the fairies may have made themselves in these prosaic and practical days.—St. Nicholas.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Umbrella Had a Hard Time With Jack

JACK and Evelyn flattened their noses against the pane to watch the rain. They liked rainy days. Then Jack put on his overshoes and raincoat and took down the little umbrella from the rack. Then the two of them would step off to school under the umbrella, though Jack would seldom stay under it long.

"I hope you will try to take better care of the poor umbrella," said daddy. "I have heard that the umbrella was not very well pleased with the way you treated him the last time you took him out."

"What do you think I heard this afternoon when I was taking a nap in the sitting room near the hall door?"

"I was just resting my eyes ready to take forty winks of sleep when there was a clatter in the hall in the hall."

"Oh, my poor John!" a spunky voice cried. "I've not felt the same since the last time Master Jack took me out for a walk."

"Miss Evelyn was not feeling well enough to go to school that morning, and his mother made Master Jack take me to carry over his head because the rain was really very heavy."

"Well, he hoisted the cover with a bang that almost cracked my joints, and as we went along he kept whistling me around until my head was dizzy."

"When we got to school he lowered the cover with a bang that made me groan so you might have heard me around the block."

"He threw me into a corner of the dressing room with a lot of other wet umbrellas. Ugh, how I shivered and shook until school was over!"

"He forgot me at noon and I had to stand there till evening, when he grabbed me up as he started home."

"Luckily he didn't raise the cover, but when he stepped in the grocer's, where his mother had told him to leave an order, he set me down so that a lady almost tripped over me, and the grocer went sprawling over me, upsetting the dozen of pickles he was hiding out for a customer. I thought my bones were broken."

"Master Jack would have forgotten me there, but the grocer's wife told him to take me along. I got away from there, but he caught one of my ribs in the coat of a man who was going in the door, and such a scolding as both of us got. The rib was bent, and I was so frightened I almost went to pieces."

"He dropped me on the wet pavement while he went in to call on a friend, and a passerby stepped on my glass head and broke that."

"I never was so glad to get home in my life, and I do hope that after this Miss Evelyn will always go along to take care of me."

Farm and Garden

MAKING A FARM GATE.

Here's One That Has Been Found to Work Very Satisfactorily.

We have two wagen gates through which we must pass very often—often a dozen or more times every day—says a correspondent of Home and Farm. The boys live on one hill and the old folks on the other, and between the two places is a cow pasture three-quarters of a mile long, part woodland and part cleared land.

To get down and unfasten these gates at every such passing would be a great deal of trouble and in the run of a year would take time enough to do lots of other work. So it has been arranged to avoid this. Both gates are hung to open inward, so that a cow, horse or mule cannot push it open, and are hung so they will fall shut of their own accord. They are both light, one being made of three 1 by 4 bars, so they will not pound themselves to pieces. It is no trouble at all to pass through, even with a led horse, and there is great satisfaction in knowing that the gate will be sure to shut itself and require no further thought. But there is one difficulty which no doubt occurs to the reader's mind. Will not the wind blow it open and let stock into the cornfields? Yes, it will. And that is the point of this letter.

One of the gates has a woodland to protect it from such an occurrence. Only a very severe wind from the east will affect it in the least. Only since a strip was cut through for a telephone line has such a thing occurred at all.

The other one, however, is easily affected by a wind from the west, a body of woodland of very dense growth deflecting even a north wind against it. But we have solved even that problem with what we call a wind latch.

A piece of inch board 6 by 12 inches is trimmed to almost a feather at one end. A three-eighths inch hole is bored edgewise near the other end. A seven inch spike is put through and driven an inch into the post against which the gate strikes, near the top of the post, on the outside, so it hangs down clear of the barb wires of which the fence is made.

A piece of heavy wire three inches long is driven sideways and on the west side, near the top of this board, or "wing," as we call it. A ring, or loop, is turned in the free end, from which a smaller wire extends downward to near the middle of the gate, where it connects with the latch proper.

This is a small rod, the size of a six-penny nail, and it passes through a three-eighths inch hole, bored down grain through a six inch board. The west end is bent square to the north, and the wire from the wing is connected with it. The eastern end is bent directly downward. Now, when the wind blows hard enough to cause the gate to open it will raise the wing, and that will throw the eastern end of this rod so as to catch the gate.

Like nearly all our gates, this one is swung to a tree, with the upper hinge nine feet from the ground. The wind often causes this tree to sway back and forth, but this latch always catches the gate in spite of such.

TWO GOOD THINGS.

There should be a farmers' club in every neighborhood, and there should be the best of farm papers in every home. And brain as well as brawn must be used by the one who would succeed.

Pinfathers.
Some good poultry men think by feeding siring hens in the morning they are more apt to remain contentedly on their nests all day.

Roupy fowls should be separated from the rest of the flock and kept where they are not likely to contaminate the soil or spread the disease.

There is nothing so injurious to chickens, turkeys, ducks, geese and pigeons as exposure to dampness. By that is not meant the occasional exposure to the rain, but living continually in damp places.

One cannot feed hens barely enough to keep them alive and then expect eggs from them. It has also been proved that some kinds of foods will produce more eggs than other kinds. Supply the elements requisite to the growing of feathers, bone or frame, flesh, a certain amount of fat (needful to conserve the animal heat) and a surplus to be turned into eggs.

The mind is a storehouse, but it needn't necessarily be a junk shop.

WIFE'S INFIDELITY WAS THE CAUSE OF SHOOTING BENTLEY

Warsaw, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Alphos Prince, arrested Wednesday in connection with the murder of Frank Bentley is said to have confessed to Sheriff Bauer that he committed the crime. The sheriff says Prince told him he had known for some time of the attention Bentley had shown to Mrs. Pierce, and that he had killed him in a jealous frenzy.

Her Fellow Feeling.
The children had been disobedient and troublesome, and the mother, instead of punishing them, brought them into line by telling them a pathetic story of orphans who had no home. Little Jack, in tears, rolled under the sofa to hide his grief. Mary stood out a little longer, and then called: "Come on out, Jack; I'm crying, too."—Lippincott's.

CONCERTS FOR BENEFIT OF THE JUVENILE AID

Three lecture-concerts will be given next Monday and Tuesday at the First Presbyterian church under the auspices of the Juvenile Aid society of Newark co-operating with the National Society for Broader Education. Sofia Stephalia, an artist of international fame, will give three lectures on music and will sing at each.

The three subjects announced are "Influence of Music," "Music and Childhood," and "Music and Life." The first is announced for next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The lecture on "Music and Childhood" is given in the afternoon and is particularly appealing to parents and others interested in children. Tuesday evening Stephalia's lecture concert on "Music and Life" will be given.

The artist who is featured in these entertainments is a native of America, though her greatest triumphs have been won in Europe. Her voice is a mezzo-soprano of great strength and broadness, and her technique is pronounced superb.

She is assisted in her concerts by Bernice Lathrop, an instrumentalist of high rank. She has done much concert work in Europe and accompanied Stephalia on her earlier American tour.

Patron's tickets admitting two to each of the concerts have been sold by the society here for $3 and there has been a good demand for them. The price is low, considering the quality of the entertainment and it is expected that a splendid house will greet the lecture-soloist.
